

ID: FR207
Title: How to Start & Run Your Own Firm
Date: Friday, June 22, 2018
Time: 7:30AM – 9:00 AM
LU: 1.5 HSW

Program Summary

Starting your own firm is a challenge; structuring it to survive is a formidable task.

Architects who are contemplating crafting their own professional practices—as well as those who have created their firms recently—need to know the practical, professional, ethical, legal, and insurance issues that a new firm faces.

This session examines the issues involved in getting started and in staying solvent. In addition to our discussion, the conference site includes valuable management resources to assist architects in negotiating contracts, managing their exposures, and measuring the financial success of their own practices.

Learning Objectives

1. Recognize and analyze concerns that should be addressed in creating a practice.
2. Identify the keys to client relations and ethical practice.
3. Examine the legal, registration, and insurance issues intrinsic in creating a new entity.
4. Pursue personal and professional goals while managing risks routinely and profitably.

Speakers:

Kevin Collins, RPLU, Assoc. AIA
Senior Vice President,
Victor O. Schinnerer & Company, Inc., Chevy Chase, Maryland

Brad Benjamin, AIA
President/CEO,
Radium Architecture, Greenville, South Carolina

Frank Musica, Esq, Assoc. AIA
Risk Management Senior Specialist
Victor O. Schinnerer & Company, Inc., Chevy Chase, Maryland

This presentation is protected by U.S. and international copyright laws. Reproduction, distribution, display, and use of the presentation without written permission of the speaker is prohibited.

This program is registered with the AIA/CES for continuing professional education. As such, it does not include content that may be deemed or construed to constitute approval, sponsorship, or endorsement by the AIA of any method, product, service, enterprise, or organization. The statements expressed by speakers, panelists, and other participants reflect their own views and do not necessarily reflect the views or positions of the American Institute of Architects or of AIA components, or those of their respective officers, directors, members, employees, or other organizations, groups, or individuals associated with them. Questions related to specific products and services may be addressed at the conclusion of this presentation.